

United States last year goods valued at $779,000,000, on which a tariff tax of $329,000,000 was collected by the United States Government, but the unparalleled outrage is that the producers in the United States of the thirteen billion dollars' worth of goods were enabled because of the protective tariff to increase the price of their goods so that they made ninety-two millions of consumers pay them a tribute of about four billions of dollars.

President Taft said in his speech at Cincinnati when a candidate for President, on September 22, 1908: "If I am elected President I promise the nation I will use every fiber of my being to carry out honestly and decently the tariff revision promises of the Republican platform." Two days later he said at Milwaukee: "It is my judgment that the revision of the tariff in accordance with the pledge of the Republican platform will be, on the whole, a substantial revision downward." After the Payne-Aldrich bill was passed which increased taxes he signed it, and called it "the best Republican tariff bill ever enacted."

According to Democratic faith in making all tariff schedules, the tariff tax should be lowest on the necessities of life, and highest on luxuries. The enormous tax provided for in the schedules of the Payne-Aldrich bill increased the price on every article on which it is levied, and helped to make the cost of living 60 per cent higher than it was ten years ago. A good law is that law which benefits the greatest number of people, and the Payne-Aldrich law will not stand this test.

There are four things every man wishes to obtain as cheaply as possible:

A home for himself, wife and children.

Clothing to protect them from the cold.

Edibles to support life.

Farming implements and mechanics' tools with which to labor.

Republicans in the existing tariff law put a tax on lumber, with which the home is built, and a heavy tax on woolen and cotton goods with which clothes are made, and a tax on edibles, and a tax on farming implements and mechanics' tools. Democrats have done all they could to make these articles free or as nearly free as possible, but President Taft, as I have already stated, vetoed the bills and was sustained by the Republicans in Congress, as it required two-thirds of the members to pass the bill over his veto. The people have a great remedy—change of administration—elect a Democratic President of the United States and turn Republicans out of office.

The conditions are favorable in various respects for change of administration, and especially because the Republican party is divided into two factions, the Insurgents and the Stalwarts. A distinguished Democratic Congressman said not long ago: "The difference between them is as to the amount of the loot." Insurgents say, "Rob by the protective tariff, but rob a little." The Stalwarts say, "Take it all," but Democracy appeals to the command which comes from Sinai and says, "Thou shalt not steal."

Farmers and Laboring Men.

I know I am addressing today an audience composed largely of farmers and laboring men, and I confess I have strong feelings and sentiments for everything that concerns them. I was reared on a farm, and although I practiced law many years I have also owned farms many years, and have a farm now. All classes and all kinds of business depend upon the prosperity and success of farmers and laboring men. When farm crops fail or diminish, business of all kinds languishes. I am in favor of co-operation and organization, both among farmers and laboring men.

A majority of our population live on farms and more than half our State taxes are paid by the farmers and the majority of our farmers are Democrats. The Democratic party has from the foundation of our government championed the farmer's cause, while the Republican party has crippled his interests and the interests of laboring men by compelling them to pay tribute to trusts, monopolies and combines, and carry the burden of oppressive taxation.

There should be no stay-at-home vote among the farmers and laboring men at the next State election. Democratic administrations have enacted every law on our statute books to improve agricultural conditions, while no Republican administration has to its credit a single act to uphold agriculture in this State, and when the late Republican convention was held at Louisville the platform adopted did not mention the farmer or laboring men, but the fourteenth plank of the Democratic platform is as follows: "We favor organization and co-operation among the farmers and the laborers of the State, and the enactment of such constitutional laws as will protect them from the greed and oppression of the trusts and monopolies of the country, which are the direct fruit of Republican legislation."

Kentucky had no Department of Agriculture until I had the honor to be Governor of the State. I recommended to the General Assembly the Department of Agriculture, and the appointment of a Commissioner of Agriculture. This Department of Agriculture has rendered valuable service to the State, and its scope has been extended so as to include forestry and immigration. There was no Department of Agriculture when I entered Congress, and I introduced a bill to establish a Department of Agriculture, and the Chairman of the Committee on Agriculture reported a bill substantially the same as mine, and it was passed, and we now have a Secretary of Agriculture in the Cabinet of the President.

In 1906 a Democratic administration put the State Fair on a permanent basis, and provided for an annual State and County Farmers' Institute, and in this way the farmer's facilities for obtaining information have greatly increased, and the State Fair gives him an opportunity to see the best that is produced upon the farm, and laudable competition is encouraged among there should be no politics in farmers' institutes, but it has been charged, and so far as I have been informed, not denied, that Republicans have prostituted the farmers' institutes into political machines.

From the farms as well as from the cities and towns come the soldiers who fight our battles in time of war, and from the farms as well as from the cities and towns come leaders in science, literature and art, Presidents of colleges and universities, and chief officers of banks and railroads and industrial institutions. From the farm also, as well as from the cities and towns, come Senators, Governors, Representatives in Congress, Judges and other officers, and two of the greatest Presidents furnished by the Democratic party, Jefferson and Jackson, were reared on farms, and two of the greatest Presidents furnished by the Republicans, Lincoln and McKinley, were reared on farms. Notwithstanding the conspicuous service rendered by farmers, they have been the main victims of Republican legislation. They have felt the terrible weight of the trusts, and the heavy burden of the tariff, both of which reach nearly everything the farmer buys or uses.

While I was in Congress I did all in my power to reduce the burdens of taxation and free the farmers from the clutches of trusts and monopolies, and I advocated taking the tax off tobacco every time I could get an opportunity.

Conclusion.
I have spoken longer than I intended. It will be a great honor for me to be elected Governor of Kentucky again.

I will be sincerely grateful to all who vote for me, and I will do all in my power to be worthy of their confidence and support.

Hopeful Democrats are watching Kentucky all over our great country, and victory for Democrats in Kentucky will probably mean victory for Democrats in the next Presidential election.

If every Democrat will do his duty at the November election we will carry our State for progress, for good government and for the Democratic ticket by 20,000 majority.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

FORMER SENATOR R. Q. MILLS DEAD

Parents And Sister Buried at Salem.

Corsicana, Texas, Sept. 2.—Former United States Senator Roger Q. Mills, of Texas, died at his home here today.

Senator Mills was born in Todd county, Ky., 79 years ago. When a child his parents moved to Salem, Ky., both of them are buried there also a sister, Mrs. Gordon. He is well remembered by many of the older people in his old Kentucky home, later when he became a man he moved to Texas starting out as a drug clerk and studying law at night until admitted to the bar. He entered the civil war as lieutenant-colonel of the Tenth Texas Infantry, C. S. A., later succeeding to command of that regiment. He was captured in January 1863, and for several months he was a prisoner of war at Columbus, Ohio. After his exchange he commanded regiments under Generals Bragg, Johnson and Hood.

His congressional career began in 1872 as representative at large from Texas, followed by four terms as congressman from the former fourth district of Texas. He was elected United States senator in 1892, serving until 1899, when he resigned and was succeeded by Charles A. Culberson.

Again it is the pleasure of THE CRITTENDEN RECORD-PRESS to announce to the buying public of Marion and vicinity that Mr. Sam Gugenheim, buyer for the firm of Yandell-Gugenheim Co., of this city, has gone to the Eastern markets for the purpose of purchasing the fall and winter merchandise for this old and well known firm.

Mr. Gugenheim has for the past thirty years been going to the markets twice a year to buy goods for his firm. He is the oldest dry goods merchant in the city in length of his business career if not in years and has in the thirty years of his buying amassed a knowledge of this art surpassed by no other merchant in a similar line in the county.

Before leaving Mr. Gugenheim told a representative of this paper that the firm had enjoyed a fine business the present year and that he expected to bring on this fall a fine and well assorted stock which will cover every want of their thousands of customers. Watch their ad on page 4 in all issues of this paper. It means money in your pockets.

For Sale.

Over three hundred High Class Barred Plymouth Rock birds for sale, $1.00 each. W. S. Lowery, Marion, Ky. 11-2

Will Leave for The Markets.

Maurie Nunn and W. Tom McConnell the popular proprietors of the dry goods store of this city bearing their names will leave Sunday for the eastern markets, where they go to buy their fall and winter stock of dry goods and other lines carried by them. They contemplate bringing on this year a stock of goods far superior to any heretofore handled and invite the people of Marion and Crittenden county to come in and examine their goods before making their fall purchases.

Mr. Nunn has only been a merchant of this city about a year but has, during that short space of time, built up a business which he and all of his friends are proud of, and he has done it by representing his goods to be just what they are and fair dealings to all. Before buying an interest in the store he was manager for Stinson Bros., in one of their big branch houses at Evansville Ind., which gave him much valuable experience. Mr. McConnell has been here in the county all his life and no man stands higher in business circles. They will keep in touch with the trade through these columns from time to time.

And The East.

Will Cannan and Gus Taylor, Marion's hustling and progressive young dry goods merchants, left Monday for Cincinnati and the East to purchase the fall stock for the Taylor and Cannan Dry Goods Co located on Main Street in this city on the Masonic corner. They expect to be gone about six days, during which time they will endeavor to surpass any previous effort in bringing to Marion the most complete and comprehensive stock of dry goods and other lines handled by them that was ever displayed in this town all to be wrapped in the check paper bundles which have come to be recognized as the sign of bargains. Taylor and Cannan are one of the city's hustling business firms and since organizing some dozen or more years ago, have now built up to such a point as to be recognized as one of the best dry goods houses in the country. Their announcement appears on page 5 of this paper in all issues.

Mrs. I. H. Clement was called to Sturgis on account of the illness and death of her cousin Mrs. Henry Dyer.

Revival Closes at Hebron.

Third Sunday night in Aug. Rev. G. Y. Wilson closed one of the greatest revivals ever held at Hebron. He was ably assisted by Rev. Sleamaker of Tolu, Ky a student of Vanderbilt training school and one of the most promising young men of the co. Morning services were conducted by Bro. Sleamaker and the evening services by Bro. Wilson. Sister Wilson was also present at most of the services and those who have had the pleasure of meeting her know what her presence in a revival service means—a better meeting and a greater service for the master.

The singing was conducted by Herschel Franklin with Miss Ruth Cook at the organ. The first week of the meeting, Mr. Clifton Threlkeld of carville song leader and Miss Ida Walker of Lola organist rendered valuable service in the choir as well as in altar services and personal work. There were 30 professions and 17 additions to the church, a revival in general.

Special Notice

The first week after the votes are turned in in any quantity we will award the 42 piece dinner set to the one turning in the most votes for each week, for 16 weeks. The sooner you turn in votes the better, but we will positively begin awards not later than Oct., 5th.
